Dear Dr. Nichols:

My husband had already started on his trip when your wire arrived. When he called me later in the day, I told him of your message and he asked that I reply.

If it is at all possible, he will stop in Kansas City on his return trip, but the probability is that he will not be able to do so since he made arrangements prior to leaving here that it will be difficult for him to keep if he adheres to his present schedule. How he manages to pack so much activity into such short time is beyond my comprehension, as well as my endurance.

Since I know that he is anxious to meet and talk with you, I am sure that he will try to work it out but I very much doubt that he will succeed.

Sincerely,

Lillian Weisberg
